GRADUATION

Andrew Kuyvenhoven, editor-elect of The Banner, gave the commencement address. Kuyvenhoven spoke of God's faithfulness to man as seen in the symbolism of the rainbow. He concluded by saying to the graduating class of 1980: "You must not be afraid when the storm comes because there will always be a rainbow." The Litany for Graduation was led by senior Martha Madany. Following that, Dr. Derke Bergsma, interim president of Trinity, presented 47 Bachelor of Arts degrees and 32 Bachelor of Science degrees.

INTRAMURALS

This year's intramural program — led by Dave Ribbons, coordinator, Julie Verhulst and Mark Hoeksema, directors, and Karla and Kurt Butyen, assistant directors—was a big success. Participation was fantastic with very few forfeits throughout the year.

Sports for women included volleyball, hoc-soc, and brun ball. The men played basketball, flag football, hoc-soc, and floor hockey. Co-ed sports were softball and volleyball. Co-ed football in the snow was cancelled due to lack of snow this winter.

There were also special tournaments throughout the school year. Students and faculty members participated in tennis, racquetball, table tennis, badminton, hotshots, free throw shooting and bowling.

The sports proved to be exciting to the very end, when championship games were played. The champions and winners of the special events had their pictures taken and each person received their own copy.

A special thank you goes to the people who helped with scoring, timing, and refereeing throughout the year.

DYKEMAS LEAVE TRINITY

HONORARY DEGREES AWARDED

Clarence and Deane Dykema came to Trinity six and a half years ago for one semester. That one stretched into 13 as Mr. Dykema ran the Printing Department at Trinity. Mrs. Dykema served Trinity in various capacities and audited many courses offered here. She took part in enough Theology courses to equal a Theology minor. Mr. and Mrs. Dykema have chosen to leave Trinity to return to their home in Zeeland, Michigan. In recognition of their service to Trinity for over six years, Mr. and Mrs. Dykema were awarded honorary Bachelor of Arts degrees during the graduation ceremony on May 24, 1980. The Dykemas were well known by the entire Trinity community and upon presentation of the honorary degrees the audience rose to give them a standing ovation. Mr. and Mrs. Dykema also served as examples for all those on Trinity's campus. Their enthusiasm for Christian service, their strong, loving marriage, and their useful retirement activities will long be remembered.
